Resonant Pendant

BY ALF SVENSSON AND YNGVAR SANDSTRÖM

MENU releases Resonant, a heritage lighting design with timeless appeal.

Created during his tenure at Bergbom, a Swedish modernist lighting manufacturer established in 1940, Alf Svensson's Resonant pendant lamp remains as relevant today as ever. Created in collaboration with Yngvar Sandström, Resonant is striking in its simplicity. The mid-century design is shaped from polished brass into four concentric shades that sit neatly inside one another. A brass diffuser ensures glare-free task and ambient light. Timeless in its aesthetic appeal and innate function, Resonant is well suited to any space – above a table in a private home or hotel desk. The series takes its name from the reflections and reverberations of the visual interplay between light and sound.

About The Designers

Alf Svensson (1929-1992) was an innovator. It was during the 1950s, 60s and 70s that the Swedish designer created some of his most noteworthy pieces. Like many of his Scandinavian peers, Svensson used traditional materials such as teak, rosewood and leather to create furniture in the Scandinavian Modern style – and often together with his contemporary, Yngvar Sandström. A skilled designer despite being little known to the public, he created several iconic mid-century designs for a number of prominent Nordic brands including Fritz Hansen and DUX. His series of mid-century lamps for the Swedish lighting company Bergbom's helped to breathe new life into the company, which benefited greatly from his large international network and meticulous approach to his metier. Today, some of his most prominent lighting designs are available at MENU, under the name Collector – a reference to the enduring relevance and collectability of his works.

A Sense of Community

MENU has always been fascinated by the way in which individuals and spaces can be united through great design. In our pursuit to craft furniture, lighting and interior accessories shaped by purposeful details, high-quality materials and human needs, we create strong and lasting relations between designers, manufacturers and customers. The sense of community that results from this union of like-minded individuals fosters a deeper sense of belonging – and products that stand the test of time, inviting human connection, inspiration and experimentation to push the boundaries of modern design. We truly believe that when we work collectively, we achieve more than we do individually: the sum of our work and of our connections is always greater than its parts, and our softly minimal designs and collaborative spirit help to join the dots between the home, the workplace and the service industry, redefining how we use space and, ultimately, how we connect to those around us.
