

KUBUS COLLECTION

by Lassen.
Copenhagen

With a sharp sense of contemporary Functionalist style and a nod to the geometric shapes of the German design school Bauhaus, Mogens Lassen designed the iconic Kubus candleholder in 1962, an object then reserved for family and close architect colleagues. The now expanded Kubus collection, partly designed by Mogens, partly by his grandson, Søren Lassen, is still crafted in Denmark and it has achieved the status of a modern international icon. Mogens Lassen's love for vigorous mathematical proportions and expressions is the red thread in this epochal collection. Never in production when first designed, the architect's grandson took it to heart to begin producing the candlestick in 1994 and still does so today.

Since then several new family members to supplement the series have been launched and now consists of Kubus 1, Line, Kubus 4, Kubus 8, Kubus T, Kubus Bowl Mini, Kubus Bowl Small, Kubus Bowl Large, Kubus Bowl Centerpiece Small, Kubus Bowl Centerpiece Large, Kubus Vase Lolo, Kubus Vase Lily and Kubus Vase Flora as well as accessories to the Kubus collection.

The candleholders are easy to clean: Place it in the oven at 75 degrees celsius upside down on a baking sheet for 15-20 minutes and follow by polishing with a moistened cloth. Every bowl comes with an inlay making it suitable for food or plants.

KUBUS BLACK

With its 6 mm lacquered steel frame, the black Kubus is what most people think of as the quintessential by Lassen design object. When Søren Lassen began producing his grandfather's, Mogens Lassen, candleholders in 1994, he chose this classic fine, matte surface texture to make the graphic, austere lines stand out. Since the candleholder was first made by local artisans in Denmark the collection has extended and every single item in the series now comes in black - because black is always in vogue.

KUBUS WHITE

The feathery bright, white Kubus candleholders, vases, bowls and centerpieces are a fusion between the modern and timeless. The collection is designed with simple characteristic geometric shapes like the square and the hemisphere, and the subtle white colour is the perfect minimalist base for candlesticks, lively flowers and delicious fruits.

KUBUS NICKEL

The Kubus candleholders are all available in a gorgeous, modern, hand-polished nickel variant. Nickel has that exclusively solemn, yet understated feel to it and is cold, but with the warmest glow. Since introduced to the Kubus collection in 2016, the nickel version has gained success for its intense, shimmering surface. Nickel will maintain its exquisite surface through years of wear.

KUBUS BRASS

Brass had more than a golden age, it is here to stay. The perfectionism, precision and minimalist stringency Mogens Lassen sought to express in his designs is exemplified in the brass collection. The smooth, shiny finish speaks to our inner aesthete, across generations and times. The brass candleholders and bowls will maintain its shiny surface as the material is mixed with a splash of actual gold. This, as the other surfaces, is the epitome of good, intelligent Danish craftsmanship with an international outlook.

KUBUS BURNISHED COPPER

Burnished copper was the surface of one of the very first Kubus candleholders designed by Mogens Lassen in the 1960s. Uniting the past with the present, by Lassen introduced this original version, adding even more authenticity to the series. Its dark, uniquely vibrant and dynamic surface will increase in beauty and change slightly over time as it patinates. A special production process controls this rich patination and creates the raw dark-tinted burnishing of the copper. Still produced in Denmark, the burnished copper candleholders, bowls and centerpieces are examples of profound craftsmanship.
