BALL

Designer: Benny Frandsen (1968)

Magnet wall lamp.

BALL is a genuine Danish design classic created by Benny Frandsen in 1968. In 2018, the BALL lamp celebrated its 50th anniversary.

BALL was originally introduced as a pendant lamp and wall-mounted lamp with magnet, and the magnet lamp was particularly successful. In the 1970s, the lamp could be found in most Danish homes, and it has since moved into summer cottages, nurseries and any space where good lighting is needed. To this day, most Danes have a special relationship to the little round lamp.

Over the years, BALL has evolved in keeping with the trends of the day, and the lamp has been produced in all the popular colours of the past many decades. Since 1968, the BALL family has also regularly been expanded without losing its most well-known design elements. Today, BALL comes in countless colours and models, ranging from table lamps and floor lamps to wall lamps and pendants.

BALL

Designer: Benny Frandsen

Metal wall lamp with USB port.

Let's face it – most of us work best with our mobile or tablet close at hand. This Ball model gives you this opportunity with a little shelf and a practical built-in USB charging port.

“Just because BALL is 50 years old and continues to be a bestseller doesn't mean we've stopped developing it. We aim to meet our customer's needs at home, and the perfect place to start is by incorporating mobile devices into the design,” says Benny Frandsen, designer of BALL.

This design is ideal as a bedside table or near the sofa, where you can always have your little helper close at hand and recharge it at the same time. No more desperation when your tablet dies in the middle of your favourite Netflix series or when your alarm doesn't go off in the morning because your mobile ran out of juice in the middle of the night!

BALL

Designer: Benny Frandsen (2019)

Glass pendants ø18 cm and ø25 cm.

In 2019 the BALL series has been expanded to include a pendant in opal white glass. The pendant is fitted with brushed antique brass metal parts as well as white fabric cord.

The pendant is beautiful on its own; but works incredibly well in a cluster with multiple over e.g. the kitchen island and dining table. The opal white glass gives a beautiful light into the room and a super good light downwards. With the help of the light source, the light can easily be changed from warm cozy light to a light which can act as work or reading light

BALL

Designer: Benny Frandsen

Metal pendant ø40 cm.

Ball as “mega” pendant; a version that goes perfectly with today's trend of more oomph in designs and interiors. The round lamp is 40 cm in diameter, and the large, soft shape forms a delightful contrast to the quadratic surroundings that often dominate the living and dining room.

Ball Mega signifies weight and strength, but the lamp is actually light as a feather thanks to its light-weight material. The white lacquer on the inside gives optimum utilisation of the light source with excellent illumination under the lamp. On the outside, the colours matt black, matt medium-grey and matt white perfectly match current décor trends like matt wall colours, stone and heavy materials. The fabric cord comes in the same colour as the shade, giving the lamp an understated elegance.

BALL

Designer: Benny Frandsen (1972)

Metal pendant with handle ø19 and ø25 cm.

The first Ball lamp arrived on the scene back in 1969.

With its simple geometry, intuitive functionality and precise light control, the Ball quickly became popular throughout Denmark and, later, in numerous other countries.

Benny Frandsen has made a name for himself as one of Denmark's great lamp designers, and the Ball lamp has earned its place as a modern classic that is constantly being refreshed.

2014 saw the relaunch of the Ball with handle pendant. It was originally designed by Benny Frandsen in 1972.

The pendant comes with a black fabric cord and a handle that makes it easy to adjust the direction of the light simply by tilting the domed shade. Hang it straight from the ceiling, alone or several in a row. The light is perfect for working or reading.

Cord:
Pendant ø19 cm: 200 cm black fabric

BALL

Designer: Benny Frandsen (2019)

Metal table lamp with USB port.

A year after the iconic Ball Lamp celebrated its 50th birthday, the familiar ball-shaped shade is set to occupy your desktop. And with its LED bulb and USB charger, it is even younger and more topical than ever.

The spherical Ball lamp, which gives excellent light and has an ingenious magnetic suspension, was created by Benny Frandsen and is a Danish design classic that still has the ability to inspire. The newest member of the Ball family is a minimalistic, technological desk lamp; always on hand to give your essential gadgets a quick energy boost.

The spherical shade at the end of the long, slim neck has diminished to the smallest possible size to give you a better overview of your desk. Replacing the traditional light bulb with an LED light source and an effective reflector enabled us to achieve the small dimensions. The rotatable, tilt able shade makes it easy to angle the light to where you need it. The touch switch with dimmer is located on the top of the shade.

The base of the lamp is your desk's new power station. It contains a USB charger, so it is always ready to charge your mobile phone, tablet, headphones or other electronics.

BALL

Designer: Benny Frandsen.

Metal table lamp.

When Benny Frandsen designed his Ball wall lamp back in 1968, he could never have imagined how many books and magazines would be illuminated by its cozy light. This iconic metal ball – easily rotatable on its built-in magnet – is simply made for reading, whether you are on the sofa or in bed. And it's the perfect solution if you want to give a room both light and shade.

The fun, ball-shaped lamp was a Danish institution in the 1970s and was typically brown or orange to suit the style of 70s Danish homes. However, as the following decades have proven, the Ball has become a classic – and rightly so. As it turns out, the shape is so timeless that it works well with any style.

The new LED bulbs are perfect for all Ball lamps. They provide ideal light for reading, save energy and make it easier to manoeuvre the Ball by hand.

The Ball table lamp is an ideal desktop lamp but is just as good on a broad windowsill or as a bedside light. The sky's the limit. Due to its rotatable shade, you can direct the light wherever you need it.

BALL DOUBLE

Designer: Benny Frandsen

Metal floor lamp.

The Ball Double floor lamp is ideal as a reading light next to a sofa or armchair. The lamp has two shades, making it perfect for a position between two seats – for instance, two armchairs. It gives excellent light for reading, and the light can be angled in any direction due to the rotatable shades. Simply loosen the screws to adjust the height of the two shades.

BALL

Designer: Benny Frandsen

Metal chandelier.

Ball Multi is a beautiful chandelier with seven Ball pendants. Each pendant is hung at a different height, giving the chandelier a slightly random look. The wires are collected in a ceiling fitting in the same colour as the lamp. Ball Multi is a reinterpretation of the classic crystal chandelier of old – but without the crystal and frills. The chandelier looks beautiful when hung over a dining table but would also add a dash of panache to the kitchen island.

BENJAMIN

Designer: Benny Frandsen.

Metal pendant.

The cone is a classic geometric shape like the cube and the sphere. Vilhelm Lundstrøm plays with these forms in his paintings of minimalist tableaux, and now the cone has become the principle element in the Benjamin lamp series, designed by Benny Frandsen. All models feature a distinctive conical shade, a sharp graphic design and a monochromatic look.

Benjamin pendant is perfect for your dining or kitchen table – but it also works together with a work table. The shape of the shade combined with white lacquer on the inside provides excellent light with a clean line where the pendant creates a space-in-a-space when illuminated. An effect that becomes even more striking when combined with the latest decorating trend of dark colours on walls and floors.

BENJAMIN

Designer: Benny Frandsen.

Metal table and floor lamp.

On the Benjamin table and floor lamp, the conical shade really comes into its own in dramatic contrast to the minimalist stand. The result is a graphic look with clean lines. Both the table and floor lamp produce a bright and well-defined light right where you want it. The floor lamp is especially useful for creating a cosy and intimate atmosphere, for instance in your favourite reading nook. The Benjamin floor lamp comes with a fabric cord with a practical foot switch and the table lamp is mounted with an on/off switch on the fabric cord.

BF20

Designer: Benny Frandsen (2020)

Metal pendant.

BF20 is a beautiful synthesis of classic craftsmanship and industrial functionalism, resulting in a flawless lighting experience.

The contrasts of a soft, spherical expression and a clean-lined minimalism have been brought together in this dynamic innovative yet classic lamp series. The new BF20 series from Frandsen is the perfect combination of functionality and design, carefully catering to every single detail to provide an impressive lighting experience.

The BF20 series comprises a floor lamp, available in both single and double, a table lamp and a pendant lamp, available in several sizes. The various models are idea for combining to achieve a streamlined look.

The top of every model is made from acrylic, which allows the light to issue upwards and beautifully light up the room. On the floor and table lamps, the spots can be tilted in the desired direction for flawless functionality. The surface finish comes in both matt black and matt brushed satin, adding a touch of elegance for a timeless and refined look that suits many homes.

Bristol

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Concrete pendant and table lamp.

The Bristol table lamp is contemporary and raw, and the light source completes the look. You should therefore choose your light source with care.

The table lamp does not take up much space, but it produces striking light. Place it on your windowsill or on a shelf – or use it as a book end for your favorite novels. It is very compact, so is highly practical.

The pendant is extremely attractive when hung in a cluster, perhaps at different heights. Hang the Bristol pendant above your dining table, in the kitchen or in a corner beside the sofa. The pendant comes with a black fabric cord for mounting.

CADIZ

Designer: Toni Rie

Ceramic table lamp.

With Cádiz, FRANDSEN underlines why Danes are famous the world over for their "hygge". In the design world, the concept embraces mellow shapes in ceramic, textile and lighting. The Cádiz table lamp incorporates all three elements.

The global preoccupation with Danish "hygge" has sparked our own renewed interest in the safe, cozy sensation of belonging and relaxation.

The Cádiz table lamp is designed to spread light in a "hyggelig" manner. The lamp embodies a love of soft shapes and familiar materials. Ceramic was a favorite in grandma's comfortable living room, and, with Cádiz, FRANDSEN is relaunching this traditional material in a contemporary and stylish design.

A smooth, classic cylindrical shade in matt cotton provides a contrast to the soft shape and glossy glaze. Although the shade and base are the same color, the interplay between matt and gloss gives the lamp life. When you switch it on and the mellow, filtered light from the shade plays on the sleek glaze, the contrast appears even greater.

CHAMP

Designer: Philip Bro

Metal pendant.

Philip Bro is the designer behind this beautiful lamp. With its elliptical shape and simple shade, it elegantly embodies the classic trend in today's interiors.

As is so often the case with Philip Bro's designs, the inspiration from Champ comes from interpreting the Danish design tradition. In Champ's case, there are clear references to Poul Henningsen's use of screening and reflective metal shells as well as Verner Panton's love of round, organic shapes.

Champ was created by playing with indirect light through curved metal shapes – just as Danish designers have done throughout the ages. With its simple shade, the pendant lamp can hang both high and low, without the light source blinding you – in the same spirit of functionality and craftsmanship that the entire Danish design tradition is built on.

While the name of this winning lamp is short for champion, when viewed in profile, the lamp also looks like a perfectly shaped champignon mushroom, giving Champ a lovely duality.

COHEN

Designer: Toni Rie

Metal pendant

Metal pendant that is ideal for lighting up workspaces or highlighting the atmosphere wherever it is needed.

A charming dome that ends in a point of metal, COHEN's relaxed lines are matched by its powder-soft finish in a range of subdued hues.

COHEN was designed to be placed over a kitchen counter or dining table, but a ring of diminutive circular holes at its top cast a diffuse light upward to add to the ambiance of any room.

COOL

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Metal chandelier

The COOL chandelier is made of metal and has three arms. The chandelier is a reinterpretation of the classic chandelier. However, it is without crystals. The bulbs play a key role in this reinterpretation – and therefore extremely important when they are chosen.

The chandelier works nicely over the dining table. If the table is long, complete the look with two chandeliers instead of only one.

COOL

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Metal table and floor lamp.

The COOL table and floor lamp are made of metal. The bulb plays a key role and therefore extremely important when they are chosen. The floor lamp is fitted with a practical foot switch.

The table lamp is easy to place as the lamp is very slim. Place it in the windowsill, or on the dresser in the hallway, and get a raw industrial look – which can be softened up along with other interior if wanted.

Use the floor lamp beside the sofa or your favorite armchair. COOL floor lamp is an easy way to get a raw industrial look into the home. The lamp is easy to place as it does not require much space.

DESK

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Metal table lamp.

The advent of LEDs has opened up all new opportunities to challenge the classic approach to lamp design. The Desk Table Lamp is a brilliant example of this. Because LEDs do not emit heat, the lamp's 'shade' can be given a minimalist design, achieving an elegant, slender profile. And with its small yet stable base, the Desk table lamp occupies very little space on the desk but has a far reach to fully illuminate your entire workspace.

Avoid hard shadows

A classic challenge for desk lighting is that your body or your hands cause shadows while you work. Similarly, the ceiling lamps typically used in large office spaces also tend to cause a lot of shadows. The Desk table lamp is designed to shine light right where you need it, so you can avoid hard shadows and tired eyes. The long arm can be bent in two places, and the slender shade with the light source can be both tipped and twisted into position.

The Desk table lamp also comes with a dimmer switch in the base, so you can smoothly regulate the brightness of the energy-efficient LED lamp up and down as needed. Another advantage of LED is that you never have to change the bulb.

GIRAFFE

Designer: Benny Frandsen

Floor lamp. Oak and metal.

When looking at the GIRAFFE floor lamp, you can hardly avoid getting a little happier.

The simple geometry of the lamp is so much like a real giraffe that it scrapes of layer of solemnity. The light, wide wooden legs meet the long line of the stalk in a laid-back triangle, which is as stable as it is playful. On the top of GIRAFFE's long neck is an adjustable metal shade that is in no way hanging with the muzzle.

GIRAFFE is perfect as a reading lamp and a breath of fresh air for the home.

GRACE

Designer: Toni Rie

Glass pendant.

GRACE challenges the chromatic status quo with the toned glass to create a look – and a discreet light – that's all their own.

GRACE pendants also go their own way with an asymmetric cut through the glass shade. The effect is beguiling, feminine and fun. Who says you can't change a room with a single dash of style?

The GRACE pendant is beautiful above the dining table – and depending on the length of the table, the expression just becomes more beautiful, the more pendants hanging over the table. You can also easily hang the pendant next to your favourite armchair – or sofa.

HARPER 3 + 5

Metal chandelier.

You may be a fan of industrial or minimalistic style, but there is no need to live without the striking feature of a chandelier above your evening meal or dinner parties. The Harper Chandelier unites modern style with nostalgic grandeur.

Harper is a no-frills, crystal-free chandelier – stripped back to a single dancing row of atmospheric, decorative light bulbs suspended from a graphic, black fixture.

Harper comes in two sizes – with three or five light sources – for the large farmhouse-style dining table, above the kitchen island or above a small, round table. Whichever the size, Harper's simple, industrial design in matt black metal catches the eye and oozes New York loft and style.

If you want to break fully from the minimalistic tradition and create an almost pompous maximalistic look, you can combine several Harper chandeliers of different sizes to produce a curtain of lamps – at different heights along the entire length of the table.

HITCHCOCK

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Metal chandelier

HITCHCOCK chandelier has a strict design language and a functional light across the many rooms and chores.

The chandelier is based on Hitchcock's clever head, directing the light to where it is desired. It is precisely possible to tilt the screen up and down so that the light falls accurately – and not accidentally.

Although the black finish makes the metal look almost soft, Hitchcock is a boom choice when functionality has to be timelessly beautiful. The shape is simple.

Beautiful chandelier over the dining table – whether round or square.

HONEY

Designer: Frandsen Guillaume Delvigne

Glass pendant.

Renowned French designer Guillaume Delvigne has experimented with materials and shapes in the HONEY lamp series, which has powerful international references.

“The idea behind HONEY is to play with the characteristics of the glass textures and to achieve a beautiful combination of glass and turned wood,” explains Guillaume Delvigne. “The simple, symmetric shape of the glass screen is enriched with grooves, giving the lamp its visual power. The grooves are also a reference to the classic Japanese paper lamps,” Guillaume continues.

The pendant makes a statement when hung as a group of three or more. Hang a little cluster in a dark corner of the living room, in the hallway or as sculptural lighting over the dining table, always taking care to arrange them haphazardly and at varying heights.

JOB MINI

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Metal wall lamp.

There are many places in the home where good, concentrated light is needed – and preferably light that can be aimed in different directions. Job Mini is the perfect lamp for the job.

Job Mini was created to meet the need for a wall lamp that is elegant, discreet and classic and that can be mounted on the wall in the kitchen or office without taking up too much space. But it also works well in other rooms in the house, where it does the job better than most. For instance, you can use Job Mini by the bed as a reading lamp that provides plenty of pinpointed light without keeping others awake. Job mini also works well by the sofa or a small desk, where its short swivel arm comes in handy.

The wall lamp is a classic architect lamp with an articulated swivel arm that can swing from side to side. For extra flexibility, the shade can be tilted to point the light right where you need it.

KOBE

Designer: Benny Frandsen

Glass pendant.

Beautiful and elegant glass pendant. The KOBE glass pendant provides an incredibly nice light, with the large oval glass screen. KOBE was designed in 2000 by Benny Frandsen and at that time it received the Danish design award, which FORMLAND awards for best design.

KYOTO

Designer: Toni Rie

Glass pendant. Electro plated glass.

The name is inspired by the Japanese city. The Imperial capital of Japan for centuries, today Kyoto embraces the design-conscious nation's taste for stylish and refined design in the same spirit that has made Denmark and Scandinavian design famous.

The Kyoto lamp features several integral contrasts. The shade is coated with a very thin layer of metal using an advanced electro galvanization process. The metallic inner layer results in an exclusive, semi-transparent glass shade that reflects the light and catches the eye, while providing a soft glimpse of the bulb inside.

The Kyoto pendant is ideal in groups hanging over a dining table; but the pendant is also super elegant alone. Used together in a group, for instance over the dining table, they create a distinctive and bold look that plays with their different shapes.

LOBBY

Designer: Toni Rie

Lounge floor lamp.

The elegant LOBBY is a floor lamp that will have no trouble bringing light to, for instance, a coffee table in a cosy corner of your living room.

If you do not like the idea of drilling a hole for a pendant above your coffee table, LOBBY is an elegant – simpler and much more versatile – solution.

From the black base, a long, arm reaches two metres upwards and 149 cm into the room. The arm lifts a black fabric shade across the room's seating area and into the centre of the sofa corner.

The LOBBY floor lamp stands solidly wherever you set it – thanks to the weight of the lamp's base. LOBBY is available in matt black and comes with a black textile cord with a practical foot switch.

LOUNGE MINI

Lounge floor lamp.

LOUNGE MINI is a floor lamp that reaches 90 cm into the room and 197 upwards. The lamp is a smaller version of the tradition lounge floor lamp since the range is less than a traditional lounge floor lamp. This makes the lamp ideal next to your favourite armchair.

The LOUNGE MINI floor lamp stands solidly wherever you set it – thanks to the weight of the lamp's base. LOUNGE MINI is available in glossy chrome and comes with 230 cm cord with a practical foot switch.

LUCCA

Designer: Toni Rie

Lounge floor lamp.

The elegant Lucca is a floor lamp that will have no trouble bringing light to, for instance, a coffee table in a cosy corner of your living room.

If you do not like the idea of drilling a hole for a pendant above your coffee table, Lucca is an elegant – simpler and much more versatile – solution.

From the discrete base, a long, bouncy arm reaches two metres upwards and 140 cm into the room. The arm lifts a minimalistic, semi-circular shade across the room's seating area and into the centre of the sofa corner. The matt black shade also has a tilting joint to angle the light in several directions.

Despite its minimal footprint, the Lucca Floor Lamp stands solidly wherever you set it – thanks to the weight of the lamp's base. Lucca is available in matt black and comes with a black textile cord with a practical foot switch.

LYSS

Designer: Toni Rie

Metal table lamp.

With its clear minimalist lines and full focus on functionality, the LYSS lamp series draws on the finest traditions and qualities of Danish design.

The conical shade, with its reflective white underside, directs the light exactly where you need it. A tilt able joint is located between the shade and the arm, and the table lamp stand on a simple base plate heavy enough to provide stability.

The lamp is fitted with a matching switch and fabric cord that complete the simple, monochrome look.

In matt light-grey and matt black, LYSS complements most interiors, while the rich-toned matt almond is a stylish match for the warm glow of teak, smoked oak and palisander – the signature woods of the golden age of Danish design.

MINNEAPOLIS

Designer: Friis & Moltke (1982)

Metal pendant.

The Minneapolis lamp series was created in connection with Friis & Moltke's design of the Scanticon Hotel and Conference Center in Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA in 1984 (today Crowne Plaza).

The lamps were also used at the Borupgård Conference Centre and at H.C. Andersen Hotel in Odense, both in Denmark.

With its unique lines, almost Japanese in style, the series works well in many interior design and décor styles, extending beyond the hotel industry.

OFFICE

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Metal table lamp.

The Office lamp series from meets all the requirements for good work lighting, while setting a homelike tone with its elegant design details.

Flagging concentration, fatigue, headaches and poor eyesight are just some of the effects of working in bad lighting. Throughout the design process for the Office lamp series, Frandsen Design Studio followed three rules of thumb for office lighting to achieve the ideal work lamp:

Spread out the light

Many home offices are lit solely by direct lighting from ceiling lamps. This is not a comfortable light to work in. Instead, you should use indirect lamps to spread out the light. The Office series has a lovely asymmetrical lamp shade that softens the light and distributes it over the desk. This means no unnecessary blinding or distracting shadows.

Dedicated for work

When working on a computer, it is important to choose a well-defined light source that is dedicated to what you are doing. The shade on the Office table lamp can be tilted to illuminate your desk right where you need it. A reading nook with an armchair also requires a dedicated light source – and the Office standing lamp is perfect for the job.

OFFICE

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Metal wall lamp.

Decorate with light for ambiance and hygge. In addition to the functional light sources, it is also a good idea to add decorative ambient lighting to your home to create a space you want to spend time in. Decorative lamps like the Office wall lamp can provide cosy lighting near a painting or over a low-hung bookcase and add variety in the office decor with the help of spot lighting.

OMBRE

Designer: Toni Rie

Glass pendant. Gold plating.

The stripes in the Ombre pendant lamp were actually introduced several years ago. But it took a few years for the stubborn lamp designer to achieve the perfect combination of classic craftsmanship and modern technology.

“The aim of this lamp is to produce nice light while avoiding being able to look into the bulb. We have now come so far in the development of electroplating that we can hide the bulb with a graduated metallic finish while retaining the lamp shade’s simple shape and the clear glass with the unfiltered light at the bottom of the shade.”

The lamp shade in clear blown glass is crafted by experienced glass artisans in a simple, elliptical shape that tapers slightly toward the bottom. Using modern technology, the inside of the shade has been given a beautiful, graduated metallic finish. It is this ombré effect that gives the pendant lamp its name.

The sizes are ideal for clustering several pendants together – for instance over the dining table. A special ball fixture ensures that the glass shade always hangs straight.

SILK

Designer: Frandsen Design Studio

Glass pendant.

The Silk pendant is inspired by the delicate white cocoon of the silkworm hanging from a blade of grass and swaying in the wind. With the beautiful moth waiting to emerge.

The glass shade has a rounded shape, forming a sharp contrast to the elegant lamp's clean-lined brass suspension fitting.

The matt white surface of the glass and its organic shape gives the lamps a silky-soft look. The delicate suspension on the pendant lamps creates an extended spatiality, so the glowing cocoon appears to float in the air.

A perfect lamp for adding ambiance to any room, and as a complement to the Nordic universe or to brighten up a richly coloured eclectic décor. The SILK pendant lamps can be hung up high or low. Individually or grouped together.
